Hey guys,

I don't know if you've got any plans for Halloween, but I'm going to a party with that "on/off girlfriend" (a terrible label I know, her name is Hannah) I mentioned. Hannah works at a startup (www.webespy.com) which has premises in this complex for web startups called "Alley NYC", which is holding a Halloween do.

Tickets to this party are $25 and can be purchased here: <http://alleynyc.eventbrite.com> (it says $50, but enter the promo code it mentions and they'll be $25).

I don't really know what it'll be like, but the place looks interesting. I've been told it's a costumed affair :) You may have other plans anyway, but thought I'd let you know just in case!

Best,

Angus McLeod

Hey man, thanks for the invite to this but I've just spent the day with a nasty cold - hope it's a great party!

Hey Angus,

Thanks very much for the invite, sorry we didn't get back to you earlier. Hope you're having a great night! What did you end up dressing up as?

We should catch up soon though - next week I won't be in town but I'm sure Mike would be keen for a coffee. Otherwise next weekend maybe we could all go for a drink?

Hope the job hunt is going well.

See you soon! x

Sorry to hear bout the cold. The weather has turned!

Yeah the party was great actually. Heaps of young geeks / professionals and a whole grab bag of different costumes. I was going to go as a vampire, but my fangs kept falling off... so I became the Dread Pirate Roberts from the Princess Bride (or so I was told).

A drink next weekend sounds great. Shall we say Saturday night?

Hey guys. So I'm unofficially working with this guy: <http://www.amolsarva.com/> on a startup of his. My role is relatively loose, but basically I'm a product manager. I'm still sorting out the LCA for the E-3 so I won't start officially until around the beginning of next year. I'll let you know how the process goes.

How's everything at your end?

Hey,

That's great news, congratulations! He sounds like a really interesting guy with heaps of interesting projects going on.

Mike has been offered a job as Assistant Editor at Portable.tv! Very exciting! He's currently sorting out the E3 paperwork too. I'm still looking but signs are good, I've got an interview tomorrow.

Would you be up for dinner sometime this week?

How about somewhere in Willburg? We all live around there, I'll have a look on Yelp, unless you have any ideas?

Hey Angus,

Sorry to change plans, but I forgot we've booked to see a show on Friday night. We're free all day Sunday or most nights next week?
